State Standards: 9.1, 9.2, 9.3, 9.4

- Use scarves to show how The Barber of Seville Overture moves fast, being careful to move only in your own space. Decide how you will show the “knocking” sounds with your scarf. PreK
- Listen to the storm scene in The Barber of Seville, the “Temporale”. Describe what the weather looks like when it storms and tell how the music sounds like a storm coming and going. Create a “storm scene” in your class by starting quietly with some finger clicking, adding some clapping, then some stamping to build a “Rossini Crescendo”. PreK
- In 1816, the year the opera premiered, Sir David Brewster invented the kaleidoscope. What is a kaleidoscope? Make a kaleidoscope. ES/MS
- The Barber of Seville* uses an all-male chorus. Research and listen to all-male choruses used in operas and other kinds of music, such as barbershop quartets. ES/MS/HS
- For the overture to The Barber of Seville, Rossini recycled an overture he had already written for a previous, less-successful opera. Choose an overture or a song from any opera or musical and try it in different shows. What works about this technique? What are the challenges? ES/MS/HS

The Barber of Seville's score calls for a harpsichord. Listen to some harpsichord music. Create a graphic organizer that compares or contrasts various keyboard instruments for sound, construction, appearance, and uses: piano, harpsichord, organ, electronic keyboards, and synthesizers. ES/MS/HS

The Barber of Seville is considered an "opera buffa." What does this term mean? What are the characteristics of opera buffa? Compare this term to the idea of "commedia dell'arte." How would the work of 20th century entertainers such as the Marx Brothers, Lucille Ball, Charlie Chaplin, and the Three Stooges compare to opera buffa? Which current entertainers could claim to work in this style? ES/MS/HS

The Barber of Seville contains an orchestral interlude for a storm sequence. Create and perform your own music to represent a storm. What instruments will be important to achieving your storm sound? How would this music be written to be performed by someone else? ES/MS/HS

The characters in this opera come from different social strata. What clothing and accessories would depict each character's social standing? Find paintings or prints of principal artists that would depict or describe the different kinds of clothing these characters would wear. ES/MS/HS

Design the costumes and sets for a scene in The Barber of Seville. What colors would you chose to dominate your design? What psychological impact should these colors have on the audience? Why will they work with this opera? Costume a doll to represent a character from this opera. ES/MS/HS

In The Barber of Seville, Doctor Bartolo agrees to take Rosina in as his ward because he really wants to marry her. Give examples of the ways Doctor Bartolo can be seen as a bully based on his actions toward others. If you were the stage director, how would you stage those actions? ES/MS/HS

Select paintings that show life at Versailles or 18th century peasant life. Spend one full minute looking at the painting and making a list of details you've noticed. Describe the painting and have a classmate who cannot see the picture attempt to draw a part of it from your description. Compare the drawing to the original. ES/MS/HS

Rossini's The Barber of Seville is a remake of a well-loved 1782 opera with the same title, composed by Giovanni Paisiello. Why would Rossini remake an already-popular opera? How did the audience react initially to Rossini's version? How do modern audiences respond to remakes of old movie favorites, such as the remake of Karate Kid? What challenges and advantages would impact a decision to remake a movie or an opera? ES/MS/HS

The 2002 Pittsburgh Opera production of The Barber of Seville used a set and costumes inspired by the surrealist painter René Magritte. The 2010 production used a more "traditional" design for sets and costumes. What is meant by using the term "traditional" design? How does stage design affect both the feel and mood of the story? How does it impact staging? ES/MS/HS

- In 1816, if you took a musical vacation and traveled from Cambridge (England) to Prague, and then onto the American South, you might have heard 17th century liturgical music from the Fitzwilliam Virginal Book, a performance of Faust conducted by Carl von Weber, and Ananias Davisson's Kentucky Harmony. Create a graphic organizer to compare these three different styles of music. ES/MS/HS
- Louis XVI was a great patron of the arts. How did the Bourbon dynasty shape the art of dance? How did ballet evolve under the influence of the Bourbons? Execute the five formal positions of ballet. Research 18th century courtly dancing, and teach a partner a typical dance from that era. Describe how this kind of dancing differs from popular country dancing from the same era. ES/MS/HS
- In Rossini's famous aria "Largo al factotum," Figaro sings a song about himself in which his name plays a predominant role. Write and perform an aria based on your own name. MS/HS
- Don Basilio is described in the opera as a "music teacher and hypocrite." What does this judgment tell us about Basilio's character or teaching music? How was music an important discipline to learn in the 18th century? Compare the music of these bel canto composers: Rossini, Donizetti and Bellini. What are the characteristics of bel canto style? MS/HS
- Berta the maid has her own aria in Act II. What is an aria? What purpose does this aria serve, and what do we learn about her through this song? Often, this aria is "cut" from the performance. Why would it be cut? How would cutting Berta's song affect a listener's understanding of the story? MS/HS
- Occasionally, something that is not intended to be part of a production will occur on stage, such as the meandering cat that caused commotion during The Barber of Seville's premiere in 1816. What precautions are taken to avoid this possibility, especially with performances given in outside theaters or spaces? MS/HS
- Rossini's The Barber of Seville is a "number" opera. What is a number opera, and how does it differ from a through-composed opera? Which style of opera was used most frequently in the 1800s? HS
- How does stage lighting affect how an audience sees the characters' costumes? What accommodations must be made in fabrics and dyes to maintain a designer's concept for color in a production? HS

Character Themes for The Barber of Seville

Eleanore N. Childs, a Pittsburgh attorney and child advocate, worked with teachers for more than a decade to research character education and develop the Heartwood Ethics Curriculum for Children. Heartwood's life lessons through literature promote understanding and practice of seven universal character attributes, which constitute the foundation of community among all people.

The Heartwood Institute defined seven universal character attributes:

- Courage is not only mastering fear; it is the ability to face difficulty or risk with integrity and honor.
- Loyalty is being faithful to a person, group, or ideal based on understanding that we are all part of something greater than ourselves.
- Justice is being guided by a balance of truth, reason, and fairness to all.
- Respect is regard for all life on earth. It calls us to value all people and their contributions, viewpoints, and differences, such as culture, religion, age, race, and ability.
- Hope guides our future through faith and aspiration, helping us to rise above selfishness and despair.
- Honesty is being truthful and honorable, the foundation for friendship and community.
- Love is deep care and concern for others, encompassing all the attributes. The more love we give, the richer we become.

Discuss two attributes—honesty and love—after reading the synopsis of The Barber of Seville.

1. In order to woo Rosina, Count Almaviva uses several disguises. What does the Count's use of these disguises tell us about his concept of honesty? Would an honest person behave as Almaviva does? How might his current behavior affect his married life with Rosina?
2. Does Rosina love anyone? Do you agree with her idea of love? Does Count Almaviva truly love Rosina? How would the Count define love? How would Dr. Bartolo define love? How many different kinds of love are shown in this opera?
3. Given the above definition of honesty, chart the behaviors of each main character in this opera. Are there any honest characters in this opera?
4. Consider the behaviors of each character. What do you think Rossini and Beaumarchais are saying about the nature of love and honesty? Does their portrayal of both character attributes add to the comedy of this opera? Would their portrayals work equally well in a tragedy?
5. Figaro may be viewed as a "busybody" who knows all that is happening. Is this trait recognizable in others today? How did Figaro display honest (or dishonesty) in his antics?
6. The Barber characters run in all directions at the end of Act II, resulting in chaos, but the opera ultimately ends happily. Were the characters thinking of the whole community at the beginning? Does this happen in modern situations?
